

Katarina Grönwall and Sofia Brax new members of OX2 Management Team

Katarina Grönwall will take on the position as Chief Communications Officer and Sofia Brax as Chief People Officer.

During 2021 OX2 has taken further steps to become a leading provider of wind and solar power farms. The company has been listed on the Nasdaq First North Premier Growth Market, expanded its portfolio and added new markets. The company has now appointed two new members to the management team that will be key to support this growth.

Katarina Grönwall will take on the position as Chief Communications Officer. Katarina has previously been Senior Vice President Communications at Skanska Group and an Executive Partner at Hallvarsson & Halvarson. She currently holds the position as Chief Communications Officer at Sweco Group. Katarina will take on her position by the latest in January 2022.

“I am proud and happy to announce that Katarina Grönwall will join OX2. Katarina is a well-known and respected communications professional and team builder. Her solid experience from large, project focused organizations will be very valuable to OX2. Katarina is a very value-based leader and will be a great addition to our mission to take an active role in society and the energy evolution”, says Paul Stormoen, Chief Executive Officer, OX2.

“OX2 is addressing one of the main challenges of our time, providing renewable energy while generating benefits for both the environment and investors. I am really looking forward to bringing my experience to a growing newly listed, yet already international, company”, says Katarina Grönwall.

Sofia Brax has an extensive experience of working in Human Resources and sustainability. She served as the Director of HR, sustainability and communications at Lindex for more than eight years. As a consultant she has been involved in developing many different companies in different industries. Sofia Brax joined OX2 in May 2021.

“Sofia brings valuable insights and competence to our company regarding our most important resources - our people. I’m truly happy to have her on board to support our growth. Her experience of developing companies and brands from within to reach our higher purpose is a very valuable asset for us “, says Paul Stormoen, Chief Executive Officer, OX2. “What attracted me to OX2 is that the company was founded with the purpose of contributing to one of the greatest challenges of our time. The purpose has attracted a great team and fostered a culture of growth, for the company as well as for the individual”, says Sofia Brax.
