

Kristina Wright appointed Chief Operating Officer at OX2

Effective November 1, 2022, Kristina Wright takes on the position as Chief Operating Officer at OX2 and becomes a member of OX2's Management Team.

As Chief Operating Officer (COO) Kristina Wright will be responsible for driving growth in OX2's markets as well as capturing the synergies between our different operations. Kristina Wright currently works as Vice President, Head of Global Operating Model and Transformation Office, at the global energy solution provider Vestas. Before that she has held similar roles at A.P. Moeller Maersk.

"I am very pleased and excited to have Kristina Wright onboard as COO at OX2 and to welcome her to the Management Team. Her combination of deep understanding of and experience from our business operations and her solid leadership skills will be valuable for OX2", says Paul Stormoen, CEO OX2.

"I am highly motivated to take on the role as COO for OX2 and to be part of the growth journey. The mission to accelerate the access to renewable energy has probably never been more important than now. I am humble and excited to have the opportunity to be part of leading this great organization," says Kristina Wright.
